

Tech Rider

Grand 9-foot piano, preferably Steinway or Bosendorfer

Microphone

Screen and projector

A local pianist (piano major students would work also) who is able to turn art works by reading cues on the piano score. *I prefer pianists over other musicians as it is fairly delicate and complicated maneuvering job to do.

A tech person who can help with a projector during the concert

Other requests:

4 hours of access to a piano to practice each day

Tuning piano on the day of performance

A separate list of program that will be performed to be handed out separately at the end of the concert as the artist will guide each piece from the stage*

A table and a person who can help to sell CDs after the concert (the artist will be present to sign the CDs and meet audiences afterwards)

No other events to be scheduled on the day of performance

*It can be just a simple one page pager which has a list of program for the end, and the actual program at the beginning includes bio and etc.
